Here's mud in your eye

All of the mud on the Los Gatos high football field didn't remain in Catland Thanksgiving Day. The Campbell Bucs took quite a bit home with them and lineman Tom Osberg seems to have gotten his share. But, despite all of the mud (or maybe because of it), the Bucs dropped the Turkey Day decision to the Wildcats 28-14 and fell to a fifth place tie with Del Mar in the final West Valley athletic league standings. More on the 40th game of the Los Gatos-Campbell rivalry on pages 14 and 15 in today's Press.

Eight to be elected to CofC board Friday

Eight new directors for the Campbell Chamber of Commerce will be officially elected for two-year terms this Friday, Nov. 30, when the ballots submitted by members are counted.

There are eight vacancies on the board and eight were nominated for the positions. There were spaces, however, on the ballot for write-in candidates.

Ed Fabbri, manager of the Bank of America offices in town, who served as president of the CofC this past year and is completing his two-year term on the board, is the only one of the eight candidates who served as a director last year.

However, Holly Vollenweider, realtor, and Lowell Grattan have served previously as directors.

Because of a change in the status of the first and second vice-presidents, at the urging of his fellow directors, Fabbri has reluctantly agreed to serve another year as president.

New officers will be named at the first organization meeting of the new year and will be installed on Jan. 18 at the annual installation dinner dance at Zorba's.

In addition to president, two vice-presidents and treasurer will be elected from the entire board membership.

The eight candidates for the eight board positions open are:

Fabbri, Grattan, Vollenweider, Lou da Silva, Sambo's Restaurant; Pete Edwards, First National Bank; Jim Norris, Title Insurance & Trust co.; John (Doc) Stander, Campbell Memorial Chapel; and Jack Wygal, Wygal Realty.

Rincon park renamed in honor of chief Morgan

Campbell's Rincon Park will be called John D. Morgan Park, in honor of former Police Chief John D. Morgan, the city council ruled Monday night.

Morgan, 43, in Feb. 1971 was stricken by a cerebral hemorrhage and remains paralyzed at his home in Campbell. Originally physicians gave the former chief only weeks to live. But he has confounded the medical profession by his survival.

Morgan has been unable to overcome the paralysis that denies him his speech and all voluntary motor ability below his neck, but his mental acuity is unaffected.

Although he cannot speak, he communicates and carries on conversations by means of his eyelid flutterings.

In addition, a van with a hydraulic lift has made it possible for the former chief to leave his residence. He was able to attend his daughter's graduation at Campbell High last June in that manner.

Morgan joined the Campbell police department April 1, 1955 and rose through the ranks. He was named chief on Feb. 1, 1960.

His record as police chief for the 11 years he held the office before he was stricken was outstanding, not only as a law enforcement officer but also as a community leader.

An indication of the esteem that Morgan is held in the community took place shortly after the police chief was stricken. A special fund was raised to help offset the hospital expenses that yielded approximately $24,000.

At the council meeting Monday, Daniel Campos, of 819 Chapman drive, Campbell, in urging the council to name the park for Morgan, emphasized the work that the stricken chief had done among the youth in the community.

Don Burr, who was second in command under Morgan, was named chief after the termination of Morgan's city sick leave and disability period.

The former chief receives state retirement disability and state compensation.

Podgorsek to run for second term

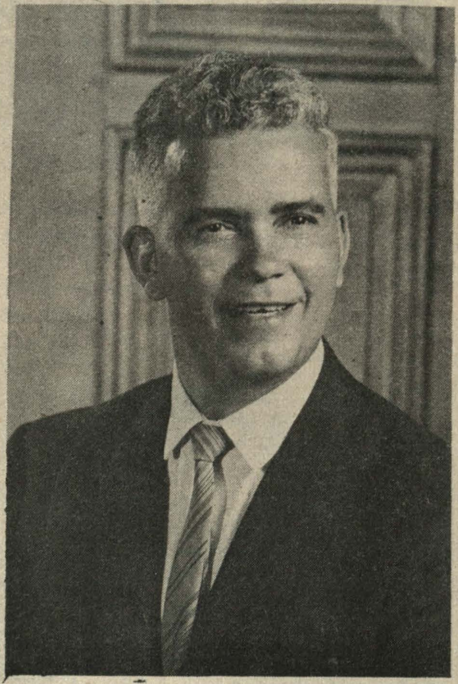
Councilman William R. (Bill) Podgorsek, 44, who was elected to the city council in April, 1970, announced this week that he would seek re-election for a second four-year term.

Filing for the March 5 election opens Dec. 7 and closes Dec. 27 under new state legislation.



BILL PODGORSEK

Podgorsek, who served as mayor last year, is a native of Minnesota and with his wife, Arlene, and two children, Kenneth and Kathy, lives at 860 Virginia ave.

He was chairman of the mayors' committee of the county Inter-city council last year.

Podgorsek, who for the past 12 years has been co-owner of a printing concern in San Jose, has long been active in church (St. Lucy's) and school (Hazelwood) affairs. He said Ron Clancy, of Sobrato ave., a member of St. Lucy's parish council and also active in Campbell elementary school functions, will serve as his campaign manager for the city council election.

Podgorsek was vice-chairman of the parks and recreation commission when he was elected to the city council in 1970 and he had served as chairman of the successful park bond issue campaign in 1969 and had been an active worker in the city bond campaign in 1967.

In making the announcement that he was going to seek re-election, Podgorsek said:

"I feel that my four years service on the city council has given me an excellent background and a foundation that will serve me in good stead for future service to my community.

"I am also anxious to see the civic projects that are now just getting under way completed.

"For example, after a long delay, the contract has been let for the library and construction is scheduled to be completed next year.

"Having served as chairman of the park bonds committee in 1969, I am especially interested in the development of Rincon park that is now taking place. I feel that parks and recreation will play an increasingly important role in this city's future.

"During my four years in office, I have been the so-called "watchdog" for R-1 (single family residences) as opposed to an over-supply of apartments. I will continue that policy if re-elected.

"I feel that my experience on the council will also be helpful in making decisions for the expenditure of federal revenue-sharing funds that city has on hand or will receive.

"My contacts with representatives of other cities in the county made in the Inter-city council (I served as chairman of the mayor's group last year) should be of value to this community in the future.

"I would appreciate the opportunity of serving as your councilman for another term."

NEW POST OFFICE HOURS

The Campbell post office will be open this Saturday, Dec. 1, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and on the following Saturday, Dec. 8, for the same hours.

Newly-appointed Postmaster Edwin E. Lassegard said the new hours were to get people to mail early to help ease the energy crisis.

FREEWAY HEARING

State Division of Highway officials will attend the planning commission meeting next Monday, Dec. 3, to explain the status of route 85 (West Valley freeway).

The proposed freeway, long on the drafting board, has stirred up considerable controversy. The City of Saratoga, as an example, opposes the highway which cuts through that city as other west valley communities.

PEACE ON EARTH

That famous "Peace on Earth" sign atop "The Towers" that attracted widespread attention last year when it first went up, has again made its appearance, the city council was informed on Monday night.

And without city approval, as was the case last year.

Wally Byron, city building official, was directed by the council to inspect the sign as to whether it meets the city's safety requirements.

In addition, City Attorney Bob Dempster was to check with PruneYard officials on the legality of the situation.

CITY COUNCIL DIVIDES

By a 3-2 vote on Monday night, the city council on Monday night modified the recommendation of the city's "task force" calling for the purchase of seven Plymouth Satellites from the state at a cost of $2,706 each.

Councilmen Bill Podgorsek and Rusty Hammer opposed making any vehicle purchases without more study. But the other three councilmen approved the purchase of three cars from the state when it was reported that three of the present city cars were in a questionable condition.

Campbell kids make ornaments for community Christmas tree

Campbell youngsters are busy preparing hand-made ornaments for the Community Christmas tree, to be dedicated at ceremonies on Monday, December 10 at 4 p.m.

The living tree to be decorated by Campbell fire fighters' is located on the West Valley Campbell campus, corner of Winchester boulevard and Campbell avenue.

Sponsored by the Civic Improvement commission, the dedication ceremonies will include a performance by area youngsters and an appearance by Santa.

Instead of using electric lighting, the tree will be visible at night by the use of reflectors, according to Phyllis Hofer, event chairman.

In addition to area schools, an ornament collection site will also be available at the Campbell library.

Tree decorations, perferably from weather resistant materials, are also welcomed from community youth groups. For more information contact Pat Safford, decorations chairman, at 378-9136.

Sunrise request on agenda

Planning commissioners at their meeting next Monday, Dec. 3, are expected to act on the zone change request of Sunrise Investment co., for property at 700 Gale drive at San Tomas expressway.

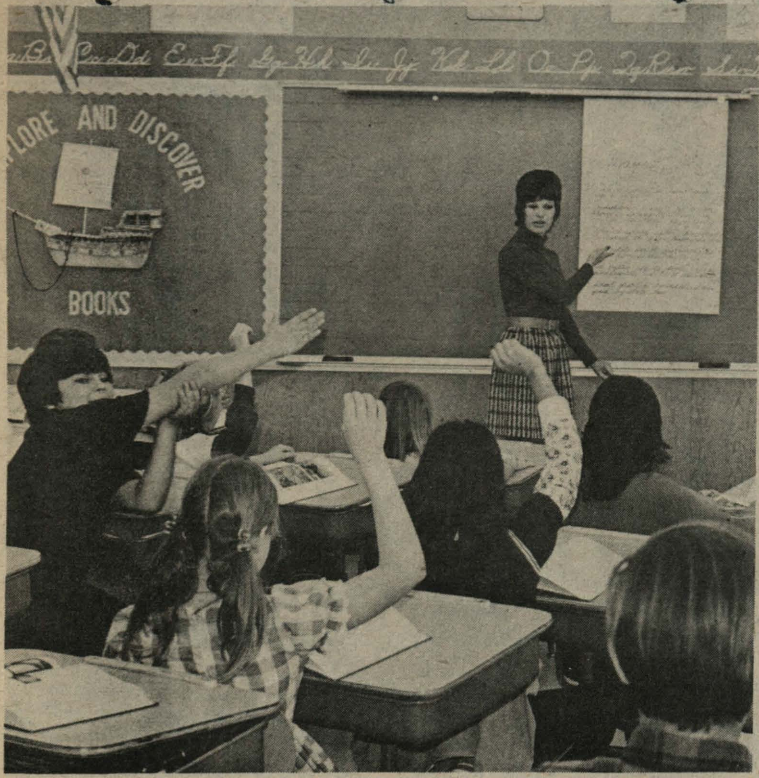
Sunrise Investment, of which Lowell Grattan is president, is asking that the property now zoned R-M be changed to P-O (professional office).

Opposing the zone change is Fred Chez, a former partner of Grattan in a number of local developments. However, many residents, through petitions and letters, have indicated they are opposing the zone change.

Other items on the agenda include a sign application for Public Storage which is building mini-warehouses at Sunnyoaks and San Tomas expressway.

The planning staff, in a report to the commission, has submitted that the proposed free-standing pole sign is larger than is needed for identification.

Lincoln Property, which is completing a 250-unit apartment complex off Union avenue, is requesting a second driveway onto the access road for the mobile home park.



PREPARING FOR THEIR appearance in San Francisco last week are students of Mariann Layne's fifth grade class at Capri school in Campbell. The students appeared before a convention in San Francisco where they put on a mock trial for the conventioners.

Capri students appear at convention in SF

Fifth grade students at Capri school in Campbell appeared before some 200 conventioners at the National Council for Social Studies convention in San Francisco last week.

Coordinated by the American Bar association Special Committee on Youth Education for Citizenship, the students recreated the trial of Socrates, held a mock State Supreme Court trial and recited poems on the subject of justice.

Since last summer Mrs. Mariann Layne, fifth grade teacher, and Mrs. Mary Kay Walker, school reading specialist and coordinator of the project, have been working closely with Professor Lawrence Senesh, economics instructor at the University of Colorado. The professor is the author of 18 textbooks and is considered one of the nation's leading exponents of experimental education.

Invited to speak at the Nov. 20 conference in San Francisco, on "A Search for Justice," the professor contacted Capri school and asked them to take part in the program.

In addition to the fifth grade students and teachers, also present at the conference was principal Mark Jennings, and Mrs. Pam Brouwer and five students representing their third grade class. They presented a pictorial display and class magazine on "Juvenile Crimes in Campbell," at the conference.

In addition Renee Lindenman's first grade class sent along display pictures and stories on "What is Fairness."

Capri students have taken a number of field trips including visits to a shopping area and office complex to learn of sources of taxation to support schools, a trip to municipal court to see justice in action and a visit to an impoverished school district.

Mass transit added to list of priority diesel fuel users

Mass transit was added to the federal list of top priority diesel fuel users last week, solving the county transit district's fuel shortage problem for this year.

The district had predicted that the 77 buses might be stranded by the end of this month if the fuel allocations were not increased.

Appeals from this and other districts in similar straits brought about the top priority listing.

Airport manager to speak at Chamber luncheon

Guest speaker for the monthly luncheon meeting of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce this Thursday, Nov. 29, will be James Nissen, manager of the San Jose municipal airport.

The meeting will be held in the new dining room facilities of El Charro restaurant at 2169 Winchester boulevard.

Al Baline, chairman of the CofC transportation committee, is chairman of the meeting.

Nissen will discuss the past growth, future plans and the anticipated impact on the municipal airport and the surrounding area.

Members are asked to call the CofC office (378-6252) for reservations.

It was also announced this week that the annual installation dinner dance will be held at Zorba's on Friday, Jan. 18. Rusty Hammer is chairman of the committee.

It was also announced that four new members had been gained by the Chamber of Commerce in recent weeks.

They are: Tire Service, Ray Chavez, 2250 S. Winchester; Bonanza Sirloin Pit, Jess Thomas, 301 E. Hamilton; Herron Insurance co., Jack Herron, 651 Division st.; and Mervyn's Department store, Don Rigby, 950 W. Hamilton.

Is Superman fallible?

Bill Cheney walks his own path

By JIM BARRETT

ALONE IN HIS musty workshop behind West Valley's corporation yard in Campbell, Bill Cheney tupes telescope assembly procedures. Astronomy students at the college dismantled the telescopes Bill donated, intending to paint the scope casings, but they got stumped when it came to reassembling the telescopes. "They wanted them painted," muses Bill. "I thought that was like putting gilding on the gold but it don't make no ice to me."
(Photo by Phil Nelson)

HIS CORDUROY PANTS and shirt, baggy and frayed, flutter in the wind rolling off the Saratoga foothills. A weathered bamboo cane ticks in cadence as he walks in choppy steps across West Valley college's parking lot. Carrying a brown paper sack filled with gauges, old magazine clippings and machine parts, 73-year-old Bill Cheney looks misplaced beside the modern campus and its mod students.

Bill, who insists you use his first name, is an educational purist. Life, he says, is given for people to learn.

Although his eyesight is waning after recent cataract surgery at Stanford hospital, Bill continues to live alone in Campbell in "Betsy", his 20-year-old station wagon.

Two months ago, Bill met a new friend, Ed Rook. Rook, a West Valley physics and astronomy teacher, told Bill about the shortage of telescopes at the school. Remembering that Comet Kohoutek will be passing in December, Bill donated to the school 18 telescopes he had crafted by hand.

Now he works Tuesday and Thursday mornings installing optical lenses on the scopes so they will be equipped for picture-taking when the comet becomes visible.

"When you kick the bucket," explains Bill, "all you can take with you is the well-wishes of your friends. I could have sold these telescopes but what the hell, who needs money? These youngsters are learning something and getting a kick out of it, too. What better satisfaction for an old screwball like me?"

BILL IS unusually modest for a man who has corresponded about physics with Albert Einstein, installed one of the first rotary automobile engines in 1929 and been a frequent writer for Popular Science magazine.

At 13, Bill left home in Oregon to sail on a freighter. He never attended high school. Rather, he pursued a job as a long-distance telephone operator in Eugene.

Via long-distance, Bill met another telephone operator, Grace Armstrong of Portland who taught school during the day and tutored Bill on a tie-line after state phone service stopped at midnight.

Two years later, Bill passed his entrance exam at Oregon state university and began attending class, despite having no formal high school diploma. However he was doomed to attend college without hope of obtaining a degree.

Like other universities given land by Congress, Oregon state required military drill for all men.

"They told me I wouldn't graduate until I took military drill. I told them to go jump. I refused to march with a gun and count to four all day. I'll bet I have enough credits to get a master's degree, but they won't give me anything," says Bill.

SCIENTIFIC USE of heat and flame is Bill's forte. He pioneered underwater welding although "an insincere business associate" patented his method, explains instructor Rook.

Facing a massive cattle loss in 1947, a Texas rancher asked Bill to rid cactus of its needles without harming the plant. Cheney rigged a truck-bed flamethrower which spewed heat enough to singe off the needles without charring the cactus, which livestock chewed during the severe drought.

"That rancher fellow offered me a whole bunch of money, but I just took what I needed. He never understood why, but who needs money?" asks the good-natured inventor and former mountain climber.

Although his son, David, bought a Menlo Park ranch for Bill, he still refuses to leave his four-wheel home. Inside the station wagon, Bill has a tape recorder and a jumble of paper pads to record his ideas.

TALKING TO Bill Cheney is to imagine Superman is fallible. Although he claims to have scaled 14,410-foot Mt. Rainier twice, once at age 51, Bill says he fell asleep waiting to see Halley's comet in 1910.

"I was lying on a ridgetop waiting for the comet when I noticed a spider spinning its web in the tall grass. Have you ever watched a spider at work? Well, I got so engrossed in this little fellow I just fell fast off asleep and never saw the comet."

It appeared again the next night but Bill says he had other things to do and by then considered it a waste of time.

Cheney claims he is happy in the arcane world. "Most people think I'm a screwball and that's all right. I walk my own path and can't seem to have anything but fun and enjoyment. The day is coming soon when I'll die but that's the price of living. No money can pay that bill."

Beat the post office line by buying stamps by mail

There may be a way to beat that long line at the local post office this holiday season; buying postage stamps by mail.

According to Glen Knowles, officer-in-charge, Stamps by Mail order forms, which include self-addressed return envelopes, are available at the Latimer avenue post office.

Customers pay no postage to send in their orders, he said, or to receive the stamps. A small service charge covers the cost of the two-way postage and guarantees against loss in transit.

Categories range from $1.85 to $8.40 for 100 eight-cent stamps.

Farm workers are topic of Sunday's forum at church

A public forum on "The Farm Worker in California" will be presented at St. Lawrence Episcopal Church in Campbell this Sunday, Dec. 2 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Speakers include Lawrence Tramutt, Santa Clara county representative of the United Farm Workers of America, and Don Curlee of the California Council of Growers.

Moderator will be Judith C. de la Pena, of the Metropolitan Planning Branch, Episcopal Diocese of California.

The church is located at 65 W. Rincon ave., one block south of Campbell avenue off Winchester boulevard.

Jazz favorites to be played at WVC concert

Arrangements of Stan Kenton, Thad Jones, Mel Lewis and Woody Herman will be featured at the "Tuesday Night" jazz band concert at West Valley college this Tuesday, Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. The free concert will be performed at the new Saratoga campus theater.

The band is comprised of pros and semi-pros who will perform under the direction of music instructor Joe E. Davis.

OUT ON THE LIMB

with George Vierhus

EACH YEAR The Press receives tremendous cooperation from the Campbell high student bodv and Bob Peck, principal, in the presentation of the annual football feature on the eve of Thanksgiving. This year was no exception.

Not only did the photo commission of the students, under the direction of Harvey Hailer, photography instructor, furnish us with the pictures of the football players but many other related photos—cheerleaders, song girls, band etc. were also given to us.

We certainly appreciate this service which is beyond the call of duty.

Although the photo credits have been reported before, we again would like to extend our thanks to Kris Holt, Sally Leitz, Tom Holmes, Greg Feick, Mike Hanson, Bob Surratt and Ron Westphal, members of the Campbell high photo commission who were so helpful this year.

One might call this a sort of post-Thanksgiving thank you for a Thanksgiving feature.

SOME WEEKS AGO we suggested in this column that a party who was complaining about bikes and bicyclists had a real problem.

We submitted that, if the guy thought there were too many bikes now, just wait a couple of years.

In response to that item we received a note from Mrs. Gene Ogletree, of Campbell, along with that paragraph from "out-on-the-limb" which ended with ". . just wait a couple of years."

Beside that line, Mrs. Ogletree had written: "Might not have that long to wait. . .see enclosed. . ."

The enclosed was a portion of the column "Autos" from the S.F. Examiner.

It was headed: "The trend toward the two-wheelers is rolling".

SOME OF THE parts of that column were underlined. They emphasized just how big the bike business is today and it is getting bigger.

And we suppose with the energy crisis we are facing, bikes will get an even bigger push.

Here are some excerpts from the column:

". . .by 1980 two wheelers should outnumber autos for the first time since Henry Ford began mass producing the Model T."

". . .Americans will buy more bicycles and motorcycles than cars in 1973, even though cars have been selling at a record pace, Goodyear reports."

". . .If the trend continues, Goodyear economists predict, there will be 131 million bicycles and motorcycles in the United States by the end of the decade as compared with 127 million autos."

". . .With a record 20 million sales expected this year bicycles will out sell cars for the second year in a row, Goodyear says, even though car sales should hit a record of almost 12 million in 1973."

We suppose it is possible to have traffic problems with just bikes involved.

We mean some streets would carry too much of a bike traffic load and maybe the residents would complain.

We assume that could happen.

But the noise would be minimal.

That is for sure.

DESPITE THE MANY comments that have appeared in the Merc-News Action Line or letters to the editor, the traffic diversion plan that was instituted at East Campbell avenue by the city seems to be doing the job for which it was intended.

Recently Mark Johnson, a staff writer for the News, wrote a lengthy piece for his paper in which he indicated that city officials feel that the blocking of traffic on East Campbell avenue has proven, in just over a month, to be an effective antidote to commuter traffic loads which had risen to some 7,000 vehicles daily.

Bill Wren, Campbell's public works director, who is considered either the villain or the hero, depending whether one is a commuter or a resident on the street, was quoted considerably.

According to the News writer, Wren said that because of the success of the plan, the city will listen with a sympathetic ear to residents anywhere in Campbell who are disturbed by the roar of trucks and cars past their homes during commuter hours.

For example, Wren submitted that the situation at Budd and Virginia avenues is a case in point.

The solution there, or course, is not as obvious as the one on East Campbell avenue but the city has tried to solve the problem with stop signs, etc., and is working on it.

The point is that the city is and should be sympathetic to problems that affect the residents of the city.

If "outsiders" or commuters are inconvenienced by the solutions to the traffic problems, that is too bad.

We sincerely believe that the people of this community deserve first consideration.

AS WE MENTIONED, Bill Wren, this city's public works director, is either a villain or a hero depending upon whether one is a commuter or a local resident.

And we learned a long time ago that attempting to solve traffic problems is a very unsatisfactory way to get along with people. You win some and lose some.

Wren in his position as "traffic engineer" often has unpopular recommendations to make to the city council, as well as popular ones.

We couldn't help thinking of that the other day when we saw this helmeted guy wheeling his motorbike around town.

It was Wren making his rounds.

He covers a lot of ground thataway.

WE WITNESSED AN incongruous sight the other day in town that set us chuckling.

One of the city street sweepers was heading for the barn after completing its rounds and the driver was blissfully unaware of the trail his machine was leaving (leafing) behind.

Naturally at this time of the year, the sweeper was loaded with leaves.

The trouble was that some gadget had come loose or something and the leaves that the sweeper had so painstakingly picked up were being spewed out behind as the sweeper swept for its home base.

Just before reaching the service center, the driver of the rig apparently learned what was happening and it was corrected.

For the record, the sweeper made a return trip and swept up the leaves it had poured out.

But it was a peculair sight.

How many times have you seen a street sweeper pouring out leaves down a main drag?

ALONG WITH VICE-MAYOR Norm Paul, we share the dubious distinction of putting City Manager Bob Stephens into the hospital last week.

It seems that we had talked to Bob just a few minutes before he was stricken with a kidney stone attack.

Norm had also talked to him about the same time.

Bob was stricken with the attack while he was in the midst of dictating some notes to his secretary just after talking to us.

He was rushed to the hospital where he remained for a day. He is now fully recovered.

Along with Norm we have been checking back over our conversation with the popular city manager.

We recognize, of course, there have been times that our words, either written or oral, conceivably might be the cause of high blood pressure for some people.

But kidney stones?

ONE OF OUR professional "secrets"—the reason we are able to fill this column week after week with trivia—is that we keep a special manilla folder into which we dump handwritten notes, clippings, etc. from time to time.

Periodically we refer to the folder and expand and expound on the little gems that have found their way between the covers of the folder.

One of the obvious drawbacks, of course, is that these handwritten notes of ours are almost worthless after they have become cold.

We are positive that posterity has missed out on some deathless prose just because we haven't been able to decipher our notes.

But for what it is worth, our "out-on-the-limb" folder revealed recently there are more than 22,000 households in Santa Clara County today without automobiles.

And only 41 per cent of the county's residents were living in the same house in 1970 as they were in 1965.

The source of that information, according to our notes, is "Profile '70," a 320-page publication of social, economic and demographic data of the county.

At least that's what we think our notes say.

Cooperation, not consolidation

BY ESTABLISHING a special committee to determine the scope of intergovernmental cooperation that should concern the City of Campbell, the city council has assumed the leadership within the county in this phase of governmental activity that will become increasingly important in the future.

But, as City Councilman Bill Podgorsek explained when the special committee was authorized, there is a tremendous difference between "intergovernmental cooperation" and "intergovernmental consolidation."

Cooperation, in this sense, the councilman pointed out, in no way means the consolidation of city-county services or the giving up of any home rule.

We commend the city council for moving into this highly important field of intergovernmental cooperation but we, too, caution the councilmen that we vigorously oppose lessening any of the home rule atmosphere that, in our opinion, is the backbone of the community.

We have long contended that bigness in governmental services does not always mean more efficiency.

And consolidation of services is not always the answer.

HOWEVER, THERE are many areas in which intergovernmental cooperation would be beneficial to all concerned and these are the areas that the council committee is expected to study. We are confident that this is an intelligent approach to a complex issue.

While it is possible that some services within the county could be consolidated without the various communities losing their identities, we reject the idea of consolidation per se for all services as advocated by the metropolitan press and others.

Westmont world

Ski club plans trip to Sugar Bowl area

By DIANE DONIELSON

I hope everyone had a wonderful Thanksgiving and that your turkeys were delicious. The high school kids had a nice vacation away from homework and assignments. A very relaxing Thursday and Friday away from school. Those four day holidays really break up the sameness that happens sometimes at school. Yet it's good to be back into the excitement you can discover when you take the time to find it.

AN ANIMAL ACTIVITY

Tuesday, Nov. 27, the faculty of Westmont High School faced the athletes of Block "W" in a donkey basketball game.

Now, to clear things up, the people rode the donkeys. The game was played in the large gym and the donkeys wore special shoes so as not to ruin the floor of the gym. To score or pass the ball the rider must be atop the beast. He may dismount to pick up the ball but must keep a hold of the reins at all times.

All in all it was quite an unusual sight to see the principal of the school high on a donkey.

CONGRATULATIONS

I would like to offer my congratulations to the Student Council of Westmont. They have done a marvelous job this year in scheduling activities and special things. I personally have never seen so many things happening in such a short span of time.

The congratulations should also extend to the spirit commission and the Thespians. They have both gotten active in the various activities and participated in the spirit of things. The whole attitude of Westmont has changed this year, for the better.

Instead of independent spurts of spirit everyone is joining in. Rah for Westmont!!!

UPCOMING NEWS AND EVENTS

During the weekend of Dec. 7-9 the Ski club of Westmont will be taking to the slopes to try their hand (and feet) at a little skiing. The group will be leaving at 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 7, by chartered bus to Donner Spitz Inn near Sugar Bowl ski area. The cost will be $27.50 for the three day venture. One day will be spent skiing at Sugar Bowl and the other at Squaw Valley. Let's hope no one discovers what a tree is.

IN MEMORIAM

Amid the joy of the holiday time there appears a dark spot.

Last weekend a young woman at Westmont was killed in an auto accident. Cindy Walters was a freshman at Westmont and had been on the swim team. Why should one with so much of life left have to die? We wish to express our deepest sorrow at the loss of one of our fellow students.

By ELAINE LEVINE

Rainy weather isn't for ducks. It's for kids.

I make a point of looking out the window a lot during the first rainy days. About the time school lets out, there is certain to be at least one kid sloshing around in the gutter. With or without shoes on. Never waterproof boots, of course. With any sort of luck I might even recognize one of those kids as mine.

Mine or not, there is always a special look of bliss on the child's face that I remember from sloshing around in puddles myself. It must be therapeutic.

At a new home we had, the rains arrived before the landscaping went in. The next thing I knew the neighborhood second graders had made a mud slide of the earth mound we intended for the central feature of the landscaping. They had a delicious time, but didn't care at all for being rinsed off with the hose before they were even allowed on the patio.

It convinced me that mud packs though weren't a good beauty treatment either for me or the house. I get a grim visage when trying to scrub mud off a rug.

Campbell coed is a co-queen at Berkeley

Two homecoming queens were chosen instead of one at the University of California at Berkeley this year. One of them is a freshman coed from Campbell.

Rachel Garcia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Garcia, 251 Munro ave., was the only underclassman among the original 15 nominees.

A graduate of Westmont high school where she served as student body president during the spring 1972 semester, the raven-haired coed is majoring in computer sciences at Cal. Her career goal is to be a systems analyst.

During the final interviews of the five finalists, Rachel said she and the other girls told the committee they should name all five as co-queens. "Instead they named two," she said.

Reason for the departure from custom, Rachel said, is that the duties of the queen are more that of a hostess and representative of the university rather than a one day reign. "They felt together we would do a better job," Rachel said. Her co-queen is Winnie Hamilton who hails from Ross, Calif.

Senior citizens fight the high cost of drugs

SENIOR CITIZENS representing more than 50 organizations will descend on the University of Santa Clara Dec. 7 for a first-stage fight against the high cost of prescription drugs.

Chairwoman of the action conference is Viola Kamena, former dean of women at the university of Santa Clara.

"Senior citizens account for only 10 per cent of the population but they use 25 per cent of prescription drugs, according to Ms. Kamena. "High costs of drugs are a major hardship for many elderly who are often on fixed income.

DELEGATES ARE expected to vote on resolutions concerning: excessive cost of drugs, high profits of drug manufacturers, the relation of doctors to the drug industry, and legislation for reform in the drug industry.

Profit of drug manufacturers, Ms. Kamena points out, have increased dramatically (average 17 per cent net annual profits, twice as high as all other manufacturers), and some senior citizens are finding it difficult to pay the costs of drugs necessary to maintain health.

Representatives of the drug industry, of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers association, Pharmaceutical association, American Medical association, and legislators will be present to hear and respond to the seniors' urgings.

RECENTLY, A group called Seniors united successfully negotiated policy changes with Payless Drugs and the Santa Clara Pharmaceutical association to establish priorities and policies that will help seniors lower their prescription drug costs. About 80 members bussed to Sacramento to lobby through a bill which mandates pharmacies to publish prices and quote prices on the phone.

According to spokesmen for Seniors United, the real problem, and therefore the real solution, rests with the drug manufacturers. Drug manufacturers can help seniors by lowering their prices on maintenance drugs (that is, drugs for heart, blood pressure, diabetes).

with PAT SAFFORD

CAN YOU HELP?

Occasionally we receive a news item with part of the essential information (time, place) left out.

A few weeks ago, however, we received a picture, mailed from a photo studio in Modesto, of a lovely couple.

The wedding picture arrived sans any other information but that of the bride's maiden name — Jan McCall. Now that we have the who, can anyone help with the what, when, where, etc. . . .?

LOCAL GRAD

On the list of graduates for Jan. 4 at Cal state college at Sonoma is Randy William Nolen of Campbell.

His major is art (filmmaking).

A SALUTE

Ed Tonini, instrumental director of the Campbell Union (elementary) school district, was recently honored in half-time ceremonies at a University of the Pacific football game.

He, and five other resident conducting staff at the Pacific Music camp, received engraved attache cases . . . and special thanks.

STRANGE THEFT

Robbery reports recently listed a theft from St. Lucy's church in Campbell. To be more exact, from Father Bose.

Taken from a room adjoining the church were three priests' robes.

FOR CHILDREN OF ALL AGES

Most youngsters in Campbell will have a chance to make decorations for the community Christmas tree through their school, but for those too young for school, a collection box is available at the Campbell library for their efforts.

While all decorations made by youngsters will be accepted (and used), ornaments using such durable material as TV dinner trays or Styrofoam are preferred.

It wouldn't dare rain during the holidays but . . . just in case.

CAMPBELL STARS

Recently named members of New York Life Insurance company's 1973 Star club were Campbell agents Thomas W. Barbour, James W. Goodacre and Raoul Pomerleau.

Membership is based on 1972-73 sales records.

HAWAII HOLIDAY

Back from Honolulu, Hawaii, where they were guests of Southwestern Life Insurance company at the 1973 convention are Mr. and Mrs. Curt Mathews of Campbell.

Mathews represents the firm locally.

Stocking stuffers galore for sale at church bazaar Dec. 5

Stocking stuffers, home baked goods and hand-made ornaments are a few of the featured items at the "Holiday Bazaar" at the First Congregational church of San Jose, Wednesday, Dec. 5, 1 to 4 p.m.

The church is located on the corner of Leigh and Hamilton avenues.

The bazaar will also feature a "white elephant" sale, according to chairman Joyce Gartz.

Co-chairman of the event is Nancy Parker.

Worldwide Yule fair at Montalvo

The wire sculpture of Robert Culbertson Jr. of Campbell will be among exhibits on display at the 14th annual Christmas Faire Nov. 30 through Dec. 2 at Villa Montalvo in Saratoga.

Theme of this year's event, which will feature Christmas decorations from several foreign lands, is "Yuletide Worldwide."

A shuttle bus will be provided free of charge, according to spokesmen of the Montalvo Service group, and those attending are asked to park only at the West Valley college campus on Fruitvale avenue in Saratoga.

Admission is $2 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Proceeds will go to refurbishing and maintaining the Villa and its grounds.

Country Women's club to hold annual Christmas tea Dec. 3

The Country Woman's club of Campbell will hold its annual Christmas tea Monday, Dec. 3 at 1 p.m. in the Campbell Congregational church.

A "mini-bazaar" will also be held featuring handiwork by the club members.

Music will be provided by the Campbell high school choir.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. L. W. Critchlow and committee members include Mrs. C. K. Gerber, Mrs. R. L. Dodge, Mrs. Edan F. Smith and Mrs. Ralph Hyde.

The church is located at 400 W. Campbell ave.

Marie Landini is jurist for Freedom foundation awards

MARIE C. LANDINI

Marie C. Landini, grand president of the Native Daughters of the Golden West, San Jose parlor 81, is in Valley Forge, Pa. this week serving as a jurist for the Freedom Foundation awards.

She is the fifth grand president of the Native Daughters in the past 25 years to be awarded this honor.

Freedom Foundation is designed to recognize and draw public attention to constructive words and deeds which support America, suggest solutions to basic problems and contribute to responsible citizenship and inspire love of country.

Announcement of the Foundation winners will be made officially on George Washington's birthday.

Newlyweds' first home will be farm in Isleton

A farm in Isleton is the home of newlyweds Sally Ann and Harry Martin. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil H. Greenley of Aptos, is a graduate of Del Mar high school and attended local elementary schools.

The Rev. J. Bernard Corneliusseh officiated at the afternoon rites in the First Congregational church of Santa Cruz.

For her gown, the bride designed it of floor-length Chantilly lace with high collar and leg of mutton sleeves. She carried a bouquet of white and red roses.

Jane Greenley, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Lawrence Regan, served as the bride's attendants. They wore gowns of floral prints on an ivory background.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Martin, of Isleton, is a graduate of the California Polytechnic Institute where he majored in agronomy. A veteran of the Vietnam conflict, he served as a helicopter pilot in the US Army.

Best man was Milton Barnes of Sacramento. Ushers were Lawrence Regan of Sacramento, Gordon Wylie of Colusa and Tom Greenley, brother of the bride.

The bride attended the University of California in Los Angeles and graduated from California Polytechnic institute where she majored in bio-science.

'Magic' bazaar sale to benefit Casols school

Handcrafted Christmas gifts and holiday baked goods will be on sale at the "Christmas Magic Charity Bazaar," this Thursday, Nov. 29, through Saturday, Dec. 1, at Blossom Hill square in Los Gatos.

Sponsored by Casols auxiliary and the Wee Care volunteers, the event will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. all three days.

Proceeds will go to the auxiliary, a service group for Casols school for children with learning disabilities.

Female physics major presents two papers

A female physics major at the University of Santa Clara is a co-author of two research papers, one of which was presented recently in London.

Accorded this rare undergraduate distinction was Nancy Udovich, a senior student from San Jose.

The paper she co-authored with Dr. Ronald Greeley of the university is "Wind Tunnel Studies of Martian Aeolian Processes." It was given at a spring meeting of the Royal Society of London and will be published next year in a special publication of the society.

A second article, "Wind Tunnel Simulations of Light and Dark Streaks on Mars," will appear in a forthcoming issue of Science magazine. Miss Udovich worked on that project with Dr. Greeley; James Iversen and Bruce White of Iowa State university; and James B. Pollack of the Ames Research center.

She also gave a presentation in a physics colloquium for high school students on the university campus. Sponsored by the physics department, the sessions are scheduled periodically for interested high school students.

A graduate of Notre Dame high school, Miss Udovich is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Udovich, San Jose.

Campbell high variety show Nov. 29, 30

'Virginia Woolf' opens Dec. 7 at Hotel DeAnza

Friday, Dec. 7, is opening night for "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?," in the Hotel De Anza ballroom in San Jose. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Repeat performances will be given Dec. 8, 9, 13, 14 and 15.

All proceeds from the production will go to local youth activities, according to producer Mel Carrerow. For ticket information call 294-6330.

'High Button Shoes' auditions in Saratoga

Auditions for the Saratoga Drama Group production, "High Button Shoes," will be held Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 1 and 2 at the Saratoga Civic Theater. Tryouts begin at 1 p.m. both days.

Music and materials will be available at the auditions, according to Director C. Michael Traw, and an accompanist will be provided.

The cast calls for five men (age 30-50), three women (age 30-50), two men (age 20-30), two women (age 20-30) and two boys (10-16 years of age). In addition there will be a large chorus of adults.

Technical people are also needed and should attend the auditions, Traw said.

For more information call 255-0801.

Over 3000 attended WVC's health faire

Over 3,000 community residents braved the weather to attend West Valley college's Health Faire, held earlier this month, according to Bill Burton, student coordinator.

Informational booths from some 50 health organizations, some from as far away as San Francisco and San Mateo, were featured at the student-organized event.

Supervisors differ on scope

New county commission —on status of women

THE COUNTY CREATED a new commission on the status of women last week, setting off a round of applause from the 60 or so women who had appeared to champion the cause.

The board listened to about an hour's worth of presentations, all but one in favor or creating the commission.

"I must admit that the women have done their homework," commented supervisor Sig Sanchez.

The vote was unanimous. But funding, staffing, and the question of the commission's powers in the field of housing discrimination have been sent to the county counsel and executive for comment.

Supervisors listened patiently as speakers attempted to educate them on the problems women have had obtaining credit, housing, insurance, jobs and promotions in Santa Clara county.

"AMERICAN SAVINGS would not give me a home loan in my own name," a woman who is a doctor complained, adding that her credit cards were put in her husband's name although she was the one who filled out the credit application.

One speaker, noting the all-male board of supervisors and the staff sitting on the podium, commented "look at the podium, there is one woman who gets to take notes, that indicates there is a problem."

The list of speakers included among others San Jose city council member Suzanne Wilson, Santa Clara mayor Gary Gillmor, representatives of the League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women, the county Human Relations commission and the Central Labor council.

Jo Kurtz, a San Jose resident rose to oppose the commission.

"My sympathies are strictly with the women," she said. "But with each commission, you gentlemen have then to build up a bureaucracy and our men who are working have to come up with the money for this."

Supervisors, though approving the commission, expressed differing concepts of its scope.

Supervisor Sanchez suggested it share staff with the county Human Relations commission.

Supervisor Dan McCorquodale opposed this idea and supported the women's desire to launch the commission into the field of housing discrimination.

Those issues are still undecided.

Gifts needed for psychiatric patients

Gifts for psychiatric patients at Santa Clara county Valley Medical Center are being sought by the Mental Health association of Santa Clara county.

Needed are such things as playing cards, games, books, toiletry items, slippers and socks.

Items, gift wrapped if possible, should be brought to the MHA office at 1572 Los Padres boulevard, Santa Clara.

Packages must be received no later than Dec. 17. Gift wrapped items should indicate the contents.

Rolling Hills Christmas dance is Dec. 7

"Eighteen Forty-Three," a rock group, will provide the music for seventh and eighth grade students at Rolling Hills school for their Christmas dance on Friday, Dec. 7, from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

The school is located at 1585 More ave.

Admission is 75 cents and a can of food. The food will be used to fill Christmas baskets for the needy.

Rolling Hills PTA has donated a live Christmas tree to the school which will be used as part of the decorations for the dance. The tree will be planted on the school grounds after the holidays.

Co-chairmen of the dance are Val Codera and Brenda Boschetta.

At senate hearing / Industry predicts plant shutdowns

CAPTAINS OF industry predict gloom, doom and plant shutdowns if the shortage of natural gas gets as tough as Pacific Gas & Electric says it will.

One after another, representatives of Bay Area industrial plants recently told a state senate committee on Natural Resources and Wildlife how the energy crisis will affect them.

For example, a General Motors official said the huge firm's auto assembly plant at Fremont would be closed if PG&E cuts the natural gas supply.

An FMC corp. spokesman said his company is looking for ways to cut use of power, but noted there might be some shutdowns if necessary.

U.S. Steel's plant at Pittsburg in Contra Costa county would be closed for the duration of any natural gas curtailment of 50 per cent or more.

PG&E's lawyer, Richard Clarke, tol the the committee the utility company will have enough gas to keep homes and smaller businesses heated.

BUT MOST industrial plants buy the gas at a cheaper rate on the condition they're subject to having their supply cut in an emergency.

That emergency is here, Clarke said.

Even PG&E's large power plants can't get enough natural gas for heat to operate steam generators which in turn produce the Bay area's electricity.

PG&E and many other plants are converting to use of low sulphur oil. But that oil is in short supply and high-polluting oil with larger sulphur content may have to be burned, putting the various plants in violation of smog regulations.

Many of the plants can substitute propane for natural gas, but propane is nearly as scarce as the gas and the companies are being rationed on the amount of propane they can buy.

CLARKE SAID THE cause of PG&E's power problems started in 1971 when the Canadian government refused to let the utility import 8.4 trillion cubic feet of gas which it owns in Alberta.

Until Canadians are assured of having enough gas themselves, there probably won't be an exports to the United States, Clarke told the committee.

Delays in construction of nuclear power plants have also added to the energy dilemma, he contends.

A Federal Power commission ruling that the El Paso Natural Gas co. had to diversify and cut gas shipments to PG&E was the "final major blow to our plans," Clarke said.

There had been a "firm" contract for gas between the two utilities, but the federal agency tossed that out. PG&E is appealing the FPC decision.

Because of the problems getting the natural gas, PG&E plans to step up its use of fuel oil from 11 million barrels this year to 45 million next year.

Al Luhks of Concord, president of the Bay Area League of Industrial Associations, asked the committee to push for relaxation of the "strictest" requirements of the federal Clean Air act of 1970 and the 1972 federal Water Pollution Control act.

"WE PROPOSE that the strictest air and water pollution controls be completely eliminated," Luhks said in his testimony near the end of the day-long hearing.

Luhks, following the tales of shutdowns by industry spokesmen, asked the committee to declare a moratorium on air and water quality standards which "require the increased consumption of significant quantities of natural resources and energy."

He added that industrial plants this winter should be allowed to burn high sulphur oil which causes high air pollution.

INJURIES

Six persons were injured seriously last week when two cars collided on Campbell avenue, east of La Pradera drive.

Taken to Valley Medical center were the driver of one car, John Parker of San Jose, with hip, chest and head injuries and a passenger, Judith Cress, with chest, hip and head injuries. Parker was later cited for felony drunk driving.

Driver of the second car, Margaret Rios of Campbell, was admitted to the hospital with head and leg injuries and three passengers in her car, Perdo, Amelia and Rita Martinez, of Texas, were also admitted with serious injuries.

DEADLY WEAPON

Arrested last week on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and parole violation was James Patrick Teague, 26, of 1429 San Tomas Aquino parkway.

According to reports the suspect threatened his sister and a friend with the gun after gaining entry to her home. The gun was fired into the floor during the altercation.

HOLIDAY BURGLARIES

Three Campbell homes were burglarized Thanksgiving day and the losses totaled over $1,700.

Loss at the George Grant home at 762 Gale drive, was estimated at $685. Stolen were jewelry and a hand gun.

At the Cyril home at 760 Gale drive, several guns, valued at $414, were reported stolen.

The same day the Sunseri home at 565 N. Central ave. was broken into and money, jewelry, a stereo and color TV taken. Value of the theft was set at $700.

SERVICE CALL

A field technician for Gill Cable TV received a surprise in Campbell last week after he'd finished a service call here.

Missing from the front seat of the company truck was a portable color TV valued at $350.

'Messiah Sing' set at De Anza

A "MESSIAH SING" will be sponsored by the Schola Cantorum, the 160-voice De Anza choir, again this year. A "free ticket" system will be used, meaning those who have advance tickets will have seating saved for them until 15 minutes before curtain time.

The "sing-a-long" will take place Monday, Dec. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in Flint center. Tickets are free and can be obtained by calling the office of community services at De Anza, 257-5550, extension 521.

The seventh annual community sing-a-long will be conducted by Royal Stanton, music director of the Schola Cantorum. Accompaniment will be supplied by Robert Newton, organist; Richard Randolph, harpsichordist, and the orchestra of the Schola managed by Sam Jackson.

Each person entering the theater must have a ticket. It is requested that children under 12 not attend.

By DICK SPARRER

Sports Editor

"WELL, STANLEY, this is another fine mess you've gotten me into!" Oliver Hardy used to always say to his longtime sidekick Stan Laurel.

And it seemed like every time Oliver had to make such a statement, his old pal Stan had gotten him into some trouble or other.

Everybody seems to have a sidekick who eventually causes him some problems. Bud Abbott had Lou Costello and Batman had the Boy Wonder. The Lone Ranger had Tonto and Butch Cassidy had the Sundance Kid. Marshall Dillon had Chester and I have Dave Mendonca!

Now for the most part, Dave doesn't cause me the headaches that Laurel used to give Hardy—but he does cause his share of problems.

Most of his trouble-making comes around crystal ball gazing time, though, when we set out to predict the outcome of high school football games.

WE PICKED WINNERS in the different leagues for the second straight year and had a good season—but if it weren't for Dave, it would have been a great season!

When it comes time to pick prep football winners, I pick the West Valley and Santa Teresa athletic leagues. When I'm done Dave usually dusts off the 'ol crystal and picks the Mt. Hamilton athletic league.

Well, I finished off the WVAL season with a 5-0 Thanksgiving Day, picking all the loop winners, to run my season total to 39-16 in that league for a fine .709 average in 1973.

And in the STAL I did even better! After a dismal 2-2 week to finish off the year, I was 37-10 in that league for a blistering .787 average.

In the STAL I was perfect four different weeks and nailed one score right on the nose, getting the precise point spread. And in the WVAL I got one perfect week and one score dead on the head.

BUT MENDONCA GOT me into a "fine mess" in the MHAL. He ended the year with a mediocre 35-20 record for a lowly .636 average. He didn't get one perfect week and hit no scores precisely.

And his low average pulled my two league mark of .745 down to a low overall .707.

Thanks goodness that when it came time to consult with Dave about possible league champions I didn't! In this same column in the pre-season I picked Saratoga to win the WVAL, Lincoln to take the STAL and Oak Grove to claim the MHAL.

Saratoga rolled to an easy league crown in West Valley circles to give me my second correct championship pick in three years. And both of my other favorites did manage to pull out loop seconds so I wasn't too far off.

And I didn't bother to consult Dave when picking the winner in the Lick-Pioneer game to open the Central coast section play-offs last Friday. I went with Lick and they whipped Pioneer 36.0.

SO IT SEEMS RATHER true to form that I'd sneak in this prediction without so much as whispering the combatants to "Mediocre Mendonca". In the second round of the CCS play-offs WVAL champ Saratoga will take a Mendonca favorite, James Lick, by 16.

But don't tell 'ol Dave that I went against his MHAL for a WVAL team. We have our own little rivalry there, he a receiver for Ayer in the MHAL and me a running back for Los Gatos in the WVAL. And knowing "Mediorcre Mendonca" as I do, I'm sure he would vote a straight party ticket and go with the Comets.

Oh well, he probably couldn't catch too well either!

Blackford plays well despite lopsided score

by DAVE MENDONCA

"I was really proud of our kids," praised Blackford high football coach George Pesut. "They never gave up."

And it would have been easy to give up against the West Valley athletic league champion Saratoga Falcons, who remained unbeaten this year by clobbering Blackford 50-0 in their Thanksgiving Day traditional battle last Thursday morning.

Now losing 50-0 may not seem like a close game, but Pesut disagrees.

"People just don't realize how well our kids played," Pesut said of his club that finished the season with a dismal 1-9 record. "I think Saratoga would agree."

"Our kids did a fantastic job considering they were so much bigger and quicker than we were," Pesut went on. "They beat us with long passes and long runs. They weren't able to run at us like they thought they would be able to."

Pesut singled out Dan Bongiovanni, Wayne Hagin, Charlie Husa, Jim Aiello and Joe Sanchez for turning in gutsy performances against the powerful Falcons.

Pesut couldn't say enough about the play of Husa, the Braves' 170 pound tackle, who was face-to-face with Saratoga's big (6'4", 240) Otis Page.

"They ran right at Charlie but weren't able to get anywhere against him," Pesut noted proudly. "He did a great job all day."

On offense Pesut singled out Tom Blandford, the Braves' tough fullback, for generating what offense Blackford had on the day.

Pesut also had words of praise for the Saratoga Falcons. "They have so much going for them right now," he noted. "They are an excellent team to represent us (the WVAL) in the Central Coast section play-offs. I hope they go on and win it."

Saratoga has now won their Thanksgiving Day battle with Blackford for the past six consecutive years and lead the series with a 9-3-1 mark.

Eastridge skaters begin to ice hockey titles

Ten goal efforts by the Mites and the Squirts drove the two Eastridge ice hockey teams higher into first place in their respective divisions of the northern California junior hockey association.

The Mites topped Sacramento 10-1 to hold their unbeaten status in league play and jump to 7-0 in the NCJHA. Santa Rosa is second at 6-1.

The local Squirts topped Hayward 10-0 to push to 7-0 in their division, a game and a half ahead of second place SR (5-1-1).

The Eastridge Pee Wees whipped Belmont 4-2 to pull to just a game off the pace with a 5-3 record. Belmont leads the division at 6-2.

But the Bantams and the Midgets are each sitting the second division and both lost last week. The Bantams fell 3-0 to Belmont to slip to 3-5 and third place in the south and the Midgets dropped a 3-1 count to Sun Valley to fall to 0-5-2 and stay in fourth place in the south.

Vike booters lose NorCal bid to Glads

Sometimes dominating a game just isn't good enough. The West Valley college soccer squad dominated its northern California championship game with Chabot college but lost a 1-0 heartbreaker.

"We dominated the entire game and I feel that on this particular day we were the better team," noted a disappointed Vike head coach, Dick Schwendinger.

West Valley overpowered the Golden Gate conference winners in the second half of their titanic, outshooting the Gladiators 15-2. Unfortunately for WVC, one of the shots taken by Chabot resulted in the game's only score.

Given an inch or two on three different Viking shots, the game would have been much different.

Twice forward Al DeSilva (San Jose) took shots that hit the Chabot crossbar while Wes Toland (Camden) did the same thing once.

Despite the loss, Schwendinger was extremely pleased with his club's performance. "We played super as a team," he noted.

Schwendinger singled out Toland, Larry Tracey (Westmont), Steve Yegge (Camden), Casey High (Saratoga) and goalie Rich Rutgers (Westmont) for turning in stellar performances.

Rutgers, fullback High, DeSilva and forward Jim Brown (Mitty) were all named to the first all-Camino Norte conference team. Abel Azevedo (Santa Clara) and Mario Lopez (Wilcox) were both honorably mentioned.

DeSilva finished the season as West Valley's top scorer with 11 goals, topping Brown's total of nine.

Bucs victimized by runner-up Los Gatos

By DICK SPARRER

LOS GATOS high picked up the West Valley athletic league runner-up spot last Thursday—but they did it at the expense of the Campbell Buccaneers!

The Wildcats snared the WVAL number two position when they claimed a 28-14 Thanksgiving Day win over the Bucs in the 40th game of the valley rivalry.

The win upped LG's 1973 ledger to 7-2 and clinched second. The Bucs needed a win in the game to get even a share of second. But their loss ended any hopes they ever had for runner-up glories.

Los Gatos pulled out to a 20-0 lead in the first half, holding Campbell to just 65 yards total offense.

But the red and blue dominated in the early going of the second half and pulled to within six points at 20-14 just minutes into the fourth period.

TOM DAVIS got Campbell on the scoreboard midway through the third. John McMongle returned a Cat punt from the 21 to the 33 and Davis broke Campbell's first play from scrimmage 67 yards on a quick trap for their first six. Jim Knight ran for the two point conversion.

Campbell and Los Gatos traded the football three times before the Bucs drove to their second TD.

A wildcat punt fell dead at the LG 42 before the Bucs started on a 58 yard drive to paydirt.

Greg Oswald passed to Gil de la Pena for a loss of a yard before tossing an incomplete pass. But on third down Oswald tucked the ball in and romped for 12 yards and a crucial first down.

Davis romped for gainers of two, five, 13 and two yards to give Campbell the ball on the nine. Oswald went to Ted Bertron on second down for nine yards and the touchdown, Bertron making a diving catch in the end zone behind a diving LG defender. The run for two failed.

BUT THE SLOPPY going ended up costing Campbell the ballgame late in the fourth. Matt Vaughan caught a short pass from Steve Hosmer and took off for the end zone. Only one player stood between Vaughan and his third touchdown of the ballgame. But the Buc cornerback slipped in the muddy field and Vaughan was off to the races.

Vaughan was a thorn in the Buccaneers' side all afternoon, scoring three times on passes from Hosmer. Hosmer hit Vaughan on scoring bombs of 56, 15 and 37 yards in the contest.

Campbell made one last gasp effort in the fourth after dropping behind 28-14. The Bucs went to the air in the rain but, after throwing one pass away and getting hit for a loss of eight, Oswald tossed an interception.

DAVIS WAS THE top ball carrier in the game with 107 yards on 13 totes. De la Pena picked up 46 yards on 11 carries and the Bucs ended up with 144 yards on the ground in the game.

But Campbell had nothing but trouble in the air. The red and blue managed just four completions in 14 tries for only 29 yards. Oswald, McMongle and Knight combined for the Campbell passing yards.

Tim Mason de la Pena and Bertron each caught passes for the Bucs.

Tom Bojorques spearheaded the Campbell defense, getting in on more than eight tackles in the game. Charlie Wilcox, Larry La Moine, Joe Karasek, John Navarro, Dave Weidman, Gary Lujan and Terry Fitzpatrick were key defensive players for Campbell and de la Pena, Jim Guardino and Ed Barclay all made key sticks for the Bucs.

STEVE BAUER sparked the LG defense and Fred Draper, Gary Bersano, Vaughan, Randy Honson, Roger Frost and Steve Jost were other key defensive Wildcats.

Penalties cost Campbell what proved a real back breaker touchdown in the second. A pair of pass interference calls took the ball to the 30 and a personal foul on coach Mike Spitzer gave LG a first at the 15. On the next play Vaughan caught a pass for six.

It was a rather poor turnout compared to Turkey Day games of past years. Less than 2,500 were on hand for the game that over almost 200,000 persons have witnessed over the past 39 years.

Vikes Sommer claims top NorCal title

NEXT YEAR came early for Matt Sommer recently at the state cross country finals.

The West Valley college harrier star, usually billed as "next year's probable cross country king" while Steve Brooks of San Jose city college was being touted as the top junior college runner in northern California, blazed to a third place finish at the state finals, beating everyone from the north part of the state.

Sommer proved his beating Brooks at the NorCal meet a week earlier was no fluke by finishing the race 22 seconds before Brooks. Sommer, a Leigh high graduate, rambled over the College of San Mateo rain course in a time of 19:58, his second consecutive sub-20 minute four mile race. Brooks finished 17th.

Only unbeaten sophomore Terry Cottom of the state championship Grossmont team and Cliff Mordon, another south runner, beat Sommer across the finish line.

THE EX-LEIGH running star was just six seconds out of second place.

Sommer's third place finish was the best ever for a Viking runner at the state meet. Mike Schaecher's seventh at the 1971 state finals was the previous WVC best.

Teammate Mike Morris (Camden), the only other Vike able to qualify for the state meet, closed out his junior college career with a respectable 42nd out of a field of 79 of the best JC cross country runners in California.

WVC matmen lose first match—a heartbreaker

It went right down to the heavyweight match, but when it was all over recently the West Valley college wrestling squad had dropped a 24-20 heartbreaker to San Joaquin Delta in the Vike's 1973-74 season opener.

The Vikes entered the final match of the evening leading 20-18. But Greg Whacker (Pioneer), trailing 3-2 in the third round, wound up being pinned to give Delta their come-from-behind win.

"They (Delta) were a pretty good team," admitted Viking coach Jim Root. "But I was disappointed in our pin situation. It was the difference in the match."

The Vikes and Delta each won five bouts apiece, but three of Delta's wins were by falls.

West Valley, led by Jamie Wheeler (Campbell), Mike Mullis (Branham) and Kevin Locke (Buchser) looked very strong in the lighter weights, building up a 20-12 lead heading into the 177 pound match.

Wheeler won his 126 pound bout 13-2 to give West Valley a quick 10-0 lead after 118 pounder Bruce Lemos (Los Gatos) had won by forfeit.

Mullis' 15-5 superior decision win at 142 was offset by Delta falls at 134 and 150. But Locke's regular decision triumph (11-6) at 158 and Gary Russell's (Leigh) 1-0 win on a second round escape at 167 pushed the Vike's lead back up to eight points.

However, Tim O'Keefe (Branham) dropped his 177 bout 3-0 and Ben Navarrete (Santa Clara) was edged 6-5 at 190, leading up to Whacker's defeat.

The Vikings will try to register their initial win of the season Wednesday evening in Redwood city when they meet Cabrillo and the College of San Mateo in a 5 p.m. dual meet.

Vike poloists close gap

AT LEAST FOR THIS year, the De Anza Dons were the better water polo team in northern California.

But next year might be a different story if the West Valley college Vikings have any say about it.

The Vikes proved that the gap between themselves and the tyrant-like Dons, who have won the Camino Norte conference crown in each of the past six years, is slowly but surely shrinking.

West Valley dropped a 9-4 decision to the Dons recently at the northern California junior college championships. But in the loss the Vikes saw a moral victory.

They had lost to the Dons 12-0 in regular season play. But at the NorCal play-offs they were in the game right up until the final period.

Trailing just 5-3 after a pair of Blake Hinman (Lick) goals in the third period, it appeared as thogh WVC would go into the final period down by just two goals.

BUT WITH JUST 11 seconds to go in the third stanza a De Anza fieldman cut loose with a shot from mid-pool that slipped into the Vike's net to up their lead to three goals.

"We had the momentum up until that point. We were starting to come on," head coach Gene Nyquist said. "But the goal really rekindled them."

De Anza went on to score three more goals in the final period while only Hinman was able to tally for WVC. Mark Lord (Wilcox) accounted for the Vike's lone first half score.

Nyquist was very pleased with the play of Hinman and goalie Chris Hathaway (Buchser), both of whom will be back next year ready to lead the Vikings in their bid to dethrone the Dons.

HATHAWAY HAD A MUCH better game against the Dons this time than he did the first time De Anza and WVC played, blocking 10 of 19 shots.

West Valley had somewhat of a letdown in their second tourney contest, being blasted by Foothill, 16-2. Only Hinman and Lord were able to score for the Vikes.

Hinman finished the season as the Vike's top scorer, as well as the conference's leading goalgetter, with 120 goals, easily setting a Vike scoring record.

Dons' Fearnside spoils turkey for Cougars

By DAVE MENDONCA

WADE FEARNSIDE'S parents won't be the only people glad to see Wade graduate from Del Mar high school this June.

The Camden Cougars will probably attend the Don's graduating ceremonies just to make sure that Wade's graduation is official — and that he won't be back next Thanksgiving day to spoil their dinners.

For the second consecutive year Fearnside was the main thorn in Camden's side during their Thanksgiving traditional football game, leading the Dons to a 12-0 win last Thursday morning at Del Mar.

It was the first time in the 15-year history in league competition. Camden wound up with a lackluster 3-6 mark.

THIS YEAR'S WIN marked the first time the Dons have ever won the traditional contest two years in a row. They have now beaten Camden in three of the last four years.

Fearnside was the difference for the Dons again this year after playing a brilliant game against the Cougars last season, intercepting four Camden passes to lead DM to a 27-15 win.

Last Thursday all Fearnside did was block a punt, which set-up the Don's first score, and then scored their second and final touchdown of the day.

Fearnside's blocked punt came midway through the second period and put the Dons in good scoring position at the Camden 25-yard line.

After picking up a pair of first downs that moved the ball down to the five, quarterback Mickey Plesha scored on a quarterback sneak.

PLESHA HAD A HAND in the Don's second score also, tossing a four-yard paydirt pass to Fearnside to cap a 74-yard drive that was kept alive by two pass interference and one personal foul penalties against Camden.

After that the rain and the Del Mar defense saw to it that the Cougars never really threatened to score.

The rain, which turned the Don's gridiron into a bit of a quagmire, put a lid on both offenses. The leading ground gainer for the game was Del Mar's Neil Robb, who was able to manage just 45 yards on seven carries.

PLESHA COMPLETED a respectable 14 of 24 pass attempts, but they were all short, flair-type passes and netted the Dons just 58 yards through the air.

Dave Pursey accounted for most of the Cougar's offense, rushing for 30 yards on the rainy afternoon.

The Del Mar defense, recording their second shutout of the '73 campaign, played a stellar game, allowing Camden to cross the 50-yard line just twice.

Jeff Toews and Ken Bondelie both played brilliant games, but Del Mar coach Jim Clifton was hesitant to single out just those two players.

"The whole defense played real well," he noted. "Ron Tedesco, Kurt Pompay, Robb and Jeff Neubauer also played fine games."

Camden boss Bob Gatiss felt Scott Greco, Kurt Nelson and Pursey all turned in stand out defensive performances.

★ Press athlete of the week ★

BOB PAULIN
CAMDEN COUGARS
Cross country

For a sophomore running in the WVAL's sophomore division, Camden's Paulin had a great year. Despite a mid-season illness, he eased to the league sophomore title a few weeks ago at Coyote park. But for a sophomore running varsity, Paulin was superb.

The Cougar soph romped to an individual eighth place against stiff varsity competition at the Region III finals to spark Camden to a team second, their best ever finish at the regionals.

For his performance, Paulin has been picked the Campbell Press athlete of the week. Because he has been named this week's top athlete, Paulin will receive a coupon for a free pizza at the Straw Hat pizza parlor, 1400 W. Campbell ave., and a picture of himself in action.

Paulin came back after his regional eighth to snare 18th in the Central coast section varsity finals quite an accomplishment for even a senior runner.

Others considered for athlete of the week honors were Dave Pursey, Camden football, Larry La Moine and Tom Bojorques, Campbell football, Ross McCannon, Prospect football, and Ken Ucci, Blackford football.

Second half fumbles hurt upset minded Panthers in season ender

By DICK SPARRER
Sports Editor

With a Thanksgiving Day victory over Prospect, Branham couldn't have finished any lower than third in the West Valley athletic league final standings.

And looking at the two clubs' records, it seemed as though the Bruins, 5-3 prior to gametime, would have little trouble grabbing third against Prospect, 1-7.

But the Panthers had other things in mind!

The Bruins did get their third place tie, but they had to fight for it every inch of the way against the pesky Panthers.

Prospect scored a pair of first half touchdowns to lead the Bruins for the entire first half of play.

And it wasn't until the third period that the Bruins jumped into the lead to stay.

Ross McCammon gave the Panthers an early lead that they didn't give up for the rest of the half when he picked off a Bruin pitch on the option play and roared 60 yards for paydirt.

Quarterback Brad Guenther tossed to Jeff Freitas for the two pointer and Prospect held an 8-0 advantage.

Branham came back with a TD late in the first period but missed on their two point try to go into the second down 8-6.

Guenther went to wide receiver Nick Bibich for a 45 yard touchdown strike in the second and Greg Silva took a split end-around for the two point conversion to give Prospect a 16-6 lead.

Branham tallied their second touchdown late in the half and again missed their conversion attempt. The half score stood at 16-12.

But things went bad for Prospect in the third quarter. Branham returned the second half kick-off to the Panther 30 and scored two plays later to make it 18-16.

Prospect came back with a drive but fumbled at the Branham 20. The Bruins drove right back for another six pointer to lead 24-16.

On their first play after the kick-off Prospect tried a flat pass but Guenther was hit on his release and a Bruin grabbed the ball and raced to the 10 before he was brought down. Branham quickly turned it into a TD and added the two pointer to make the final 32-16.

Junior halfback Dave Watts sparked the Panther offense in the game with 112 yards on 15 carries and five pass receptions for 57 yards.

Prospect coach Earl Adams was extremely pleased with the performance of McCammon at both offensive and defensive tackle.

"He looks as good as the best I've ever seen in the league," said Adams. "I'd rate him right up there with (Greg) Peters of Saratoga."

Adams was also pleased with the play of Chris Woodhouse at defensive end. "He played the whole game there," said the coach. "He was a defensive halfback and we moved him up. He did a better than average job — a real good job."

"We played pretty well for us," said Adams of the game. "We got off to a good start and played well. But a couple of fumbles really hurt us."

Election set for directors

An election of the remaining directors of the Campbell-Moreland Pony league will be held Wednesday evening at the Rincon clubhouse.

The meeting, which gets underway at 7:30 p.m., is open to the public, as are all Campbell-Moreland pony league meetings.

Five positions have already been filled in the league's front office, including president, Ray Knight, vice president, Gary Mitchell, secretary, George Ryan, treasurer, Roy Leischman, and player agent, Bob Devor.

The league also announced that applications are being accepted for managerial and coaching positions for the upcoming 1974 season.
